(Note 1) The Tuition Support Fund System for High Schools, etc. has been adopted for students who entered high school in or after April 2014 academic year. The Tuition Support Fund System aims to support a student in a household with the municipal standard taxable income multiplied by 6% after subtracting municipal income tax adjusted deduction (*) below 304,200 yen (or below an annual income of about 9,100,000 yen). If a student in an eligible household applies and his/her application is approved, the tuition support fund is provided to the student's school to offer the student free tuition, etc. Repayment is not required. However, if no application for the support is filed, the tuition fees need to be paid.

In addition, students who have already graduated from high school or have attended school for a period exceeding the term of study (36 months for full-time and 48 months for part-time) are not eligible for this tuition support, and tuition is collected as a rule.

* In the case of ordinance-designated cities, it is calculated by multiplying the amount of adjusted deduction by 3/4.

(Note 2) Tuition payment should be made in two installments, but payment by more installments is also possible.

* For families with financial difficulties in paying the admission fee and tuition fee, a system of exemption or reduction by 50% is available.

* If the Tuition Support Fund is not applicable due to income restrictions, households with three or more children under the age of 23 who are dependent on parents, etc. will have their tuition fee reduced by 50 % based on application. For more information, please contact the school you plan to enroll when admission is granted.
